Luke Hayden

Ophelia Model Management

With hundreds of global agency contacts, Ophelia Model Management works with their models to determine the best fit for them. Our job is: To connect models with photographers and creative teams to test and build a strong portfolio. To prepare models on what to expect once they are placed with a modeling agency. To mentor and manage models throughout their career in fashion.

Luke's remarkable portfolio boasts collaborations with prestigious brands like Coach, Givenchy, Versace, and Balmain, Armani, Marc Jacobs & the list goes on & on.

Luke started in the business as a represented recording artist and transitioned to the management side of the business where he excelled in scouting, managing, and casting models. Co-founding an agency in New York City at the age of 22, Luke established enduring connections with business partners who are now his closest confidants.

Luke & his team manage over hundreds of models in every market of the world including the US, Europe, Asia, & the UK.
